M'ADOO OPENS PLEA FOR SHIP BILL THIS YEAR

Merchant Marine Necessary at Once to Save Commerce, He

The reasons, in his opinion, a mer-chant marine bill should be passed at the ceming Congress, were today ex-plained by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in an exclusive interview the United Press. It was his first tailed interview since assuming office. Five fundamentally necessary factors require that the Government come to

The Secretary leaned forward to emphasize his earnestness and went on, with outstretched arm.

"There can be no difference of opinion as to the necessity for adequate havai auxiliaries and for the development of our navy homogeneously, so that all its parts will be sufficient and work in thorough reciprocation. The scute situations that have arisen in our foreign relations have emphasized more than eyer the necessity for an adequate navy—a navy not lopsided and unbalanced, but thoroughly developed and well-balanced in all of its parts."

aid, in part:

It was a good thing that in 1776 and 1861 there were no songs like "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier," because if there had been there wouldn't have been many people left alive today to sing them.

There must be no more discrimination against Jew or Catholic or Protestant than discrimination in favor of Jew, Catholic, or Protestant. Whoever makes such discrimination is an enemy of the public schools.

There is no room in this country for hyphenated Americanism. When I refer to hyphenated Americans I do not refer to naturalised Ameri-cans. Some of the very best Ameri-cans I have ever known were nat-uralized Americans, Americans born a shroad.

The one absolutely certain way of bringing this nation to ruin, of pre-venting all possibility of its continu-ing to be a nation at all, would be to permit it to become a tangle of squabbling nationalities.

The man who calls himself an American citizen and who yet shows by his actions that he is primarily the citizen of a foreign land, plays a thoroughly mischlevous part in the life of our body politic. He has no place here, and the sooner he returns to the land to which he feels his real heart allegiance, the better it will be for every good American.

The lamentable fate of Belgium has The lamentable fate of Beigium has shown that no injustice in legislation or success in business will be of the slightest avail if the ration has not prepared in advance the strength to protect its rights.

There must be social, economic and military preparedness all alike, all harmoniously developed, and, above all, there must be spiritual and mental preparedness. To prepare a great army and navy without preparing a proper national spirit, would avail nothing.

Every citizen should be trained sedulously by every activity at our command to realize his duty to the nation. In France at this moment the workingmen who are not at the front are spending all their energies with the single thought of helping their brethren at the front by what they do in the munitions plants, on the railroads, in the factories. It is a shocking, a lamentable thing, that many trade unions of England have taken a directly opposite view.

It ought to be a literally appalling fact that members of two of the foreign embassies in this country have been discovered to be implicated in inciting their fellow-countrymen, whether naturalized American citizens or not, to the destruction of property and the crippling of American industries that are operating in accordance with internal law and international agreement.

The malign activity of one of these embassies has been brought home directly to the ambassador in such shape that his recall has been forced. The activities of the other have been set forth in detail by the publication in the press of its letters in such fashion as to make clear that they were of the same general character. Of course, the two embassies were merely carrying out the instructions of their home governments.

It has recently been announced that the Russian government is to rent a house in New York as a national center, to be Russian in faith and patriotism, to foster the Russian language and keep alive the national feeling in immigrants who come hither. All of this is utterly antagonistic to proper American sentiment, whether perpetrated in the name of Germany, of Austria, of Russia, of England, of France, or of and other country.

The National Guard should be supervised and controlled by the Federal War Department. Training camps such as the Plattsburg camps such as and the Government should pay the expense. Foreign born as well as native born citizens should be brought together in these camps.

Not only should battleships, battle Not only should battleships, battle cruisers, submarines, ample coast and field artillery be provided, and a greater ammunition system, but there should be a utilization of those engaged in such professions as the ownership and management of motor cars, in aviation, and in engineering. Map making and road improvement cars, in aviation, and in engineering. Map making and road improvement should be attended to. The ralivoads should be brought into intimate touch with the War Department. The Government should deal with the conservation of all necessary war supplies, such as mine products, potash, oil lands, and the like All munitions plants should be carefully surveyed with special reference to their geographic distribution and for the possibility of increased munition and supply factories. Finally, remember that the men must be sedulously trained in peace to use this material or we shall merely prepare our ships, guns, and products as sifts to the enemy. But the most important of all things is universal military service.

I ask you to make a special effort to deal with Americanization, the fusing into one nation, of all those that come to our shores. Pay heed to the three essential principles: First, the need of a common language; second, the need of a common civil standard; third, the need of a high standard of living, of reasonable equality of opportunity, of social and industrial justice. I ask you to help strike the note that shall unite our people. If we are not united we shall slip into the guif of measureless disaster. I ask you and those like you to take a foremost part in the movement—a young men's movement—for a greater and better America in the future.

RESERVE BODY TURNS DOWN M'ADOO'S PLAN

The suggestion of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo that joint agencies of the Péderal reserve banks be e stabilished in South and Central American countries, which was approved by President Wilson, has been turned down by the Federal reserve board. The reserve bank system could not go into this work, the board held, because, owing to legal restrictions, it could not compete with foreign banks.

In a report vetoing the suggestion, the Reserve Board said that the large government banks of Europe do not go into foreign fields except where they hold, as secondary reserves, foreign bills on the mest important European countries where large discount rates exist, and where the gold standard is firmly established.

England, Germany, and France have established independent banks or branch banks of deposit banks in Latin-American countries to do ploneer work, the board's report says, and it believes the United States should pursue the same course. The reserve banks, the board believes, though restricted themselves from entering this field, could assist American banks which establish Latin-American banks.

After a large copper box containing a photograph and drawings of the amplitheater, newspapers and other articles had been deposited in the cornerstone. President Wilson took charge of the exercises until the flagbedecked cable had been detached from the marble block.

Patriotic Addresses.

Capt. Charles W. Newton, past com-mander of the Spanish War Veterans, and a member of the amphitheater commission, then delivered an address. He told of the commission's work and the labors of Judge Kimball and the latter's associates in the patriotic undertaking.

Captain Newton said he was giad the amphitheater would stand as a memorial to all American soldiers of all wars because it would be all the greater inspiration to future generations. He made an eloquent patriotic address, which was liberally applauded by the guests on the platform and the large crowd.

Benediction was pronounced by the Rev. John B. F. Prasier, a chaplain in the United States navy.

Relief Corps Exercises.

Immediately after the cornerstone ex-President Wilson, Secretary Daniels, and the crowd went to front of the amphitheater, where two memorial trees were planted by the Woman's Relief Corps, assisted by George H. Slaybaugh, senior vice commander of the G. A. R., and Col. John McElroy, acting commander of the Department of the Potomac.

partment of the Potomac.

Colonel Slaybaugh turned the first spadeful of earth and Colonel McEiroy the second. The two trees were then placed in openings in the earth, while a large number of women color bearers stood near with American flags.

The first tree was dedicated to the memory of Maj. Gen. George H. Thomas, "The Rock of Chickamauga." and the second to Maj. Gen. William T. Sherman, "Old Tecumseh."

Should the trees planted today not live, they will be removed next spring and other trees planted in their stead by members of the Department of the Potomac. G. A. R., and Woman's Relief Coros.
